RAIN TO THE END AT MARLIN. Giants Spend Last Day in Idleness

Squad Cut Down. MARLIN, Tex., March 22 .- McGraw and regulars passed their last day in Mar-in idleness. Another norther arrived nging with it a heavy rain. The play-on his wheel. Then the Mercury Foot rider jumped the Irishman and shot into the lead. After classing Van den Dries for a cross-country run in the afternoon, but when he took a look at the weather after luncheon he came back and said, "Nothing doing, boys; you'd have to swim and some of you might catch cold." The men therefore spent the rest of the day in loafing around the hotel playing various games of packing their trunks.

The Glants' leader had no real idea that a game could be played in Dalias to-day when he sent the youngsters there last hight, but it was easier to transport the squad in two divisions. A party of forty leaves at midnight to join those already at criental Hotel. With this exodus the Marlin training season of 1912 is over.

Except from the randpoint of the weather it has been successful. No manager can tell in advance how his youngsters will develop, but McGraw was very fortunate this year. At least six of his fledglings appear to be of possible big league calibre. He has already begun to cut down the squad, and from now on mon will be disposed of almost daily. Harry Devore is in stalveston, Gardella and Jacobson well on their way to Mobile and Nohowell and Luby will be sent directly to New York from Dallas. This means in all likelihood that these two men will be released outright. Luby is a hard hitter, but he and Nohowell evidently have not impressed the Glants' leader as being major league timber.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 22.—After run-ning out of a hard rainstorm on their way from Memphis last night, Bill Dahlen and his thirty-odd Brooklyn athletes were glad enough to put on their heaviest stad enough to put on their heaviest coats as they left their Pullmans this morning. The weather was cold and damp nearly all day and the rain yesterday left Eclipse Park in no condition for practice. The local club managed to get a workout in a large pavillon at the Kentucky State Fair grounds.

Trainer Comerford was seized with an attack of chills on his arrival at the hotel and has been in bed all day.

Manager Dahlen, who has been looking for hitters ever since he took hold of the club, sent several of the players to celebrated maker of bats to see if they could pick up a few sticks with base hit; it, them for the coming season.

If a game is played to-morrow with the Colonel Dahlen's men will find it ho easy thing to gain a victory, as the Kentuckians have an array of former big leaguers in their ranks. Among them are Kitty Bransfield and Al Burch, the latter playing in Brooklyn for several years up to last season. not a personal one of his own. Senator Frawley is opposed to any interference with his law. The Senate Codes Committee reported the Stilwell bill, which is identical with the Allen measure, and put it on the bottom of the calendar.

Senator Saxe's purpose was to get the Allen bill out of the Codes Committee and substituted for the Stilwell bill had little if any chance of passage.

The manipulation of the two bills in the Senate was taken to mean that an effort was to be made to thwart the Governor in his desire to have the boxing law repealed Senator Saxe gave notice that he intended to flove for the discharge of the Codes Committee from further consideration of the Allen bill.

Quite a few of the members have made big individual subscriptions, the most notable being the president of the Mercury Foot organization. Robert M. Thompson, who has given $1,000.

When the American team went to England in 1905 the New York A. C. gave about $3,800 outside of the individual donations, and in 1906 $3,500 was given for the team's trip to Athens. The New York A. C. sent a team of its own to Paris in 1900.
